WHAT KIND OF FLOWERS SHOULD I GET HER?

Serious relationship?

No → Do you want it to be?

No → Why not?

Keeping it friendly → YELLOW ROSE: The most passive-aggressive way to symbolically declare your friendly intentions.

Not going to last → BLUE ROSE: They're cheap and wilt quickly, much like your relationship.

Don't Know

Yes → FIRST VALENTINES TOGETHER?

Yes → What kind of V-day are you planning?

No → What kind of V-day are you planning?

Keeping it simple → Has she killed every fish she's owned?

Yes → Does she have a teddy bear collection?

Yes → PINK ROSES: Girly, sweet and usually cheaper than reds.

No → Was it her idea to keep it simple?

No → PINK ROSES

Yes → GERBERA DAISIES: Bright, fun and won't break the bank.

No → Does she have a tattoo of a Chinese symbol meaning peace / love / happiness?

Yes → LUCKY BAMBOO: Nothing says "I understand you" like a little feng shui.

No → FLOWERING PLANT: Let it be a metaphor for your growing relationship — don't forget to water.

Romantic like ...

Romantic evening out.

Swanky → Are you going to have money leftover?

Yes → DOZEN RED ROSES: Red roses sell at a premium on Valentine's Day, but suck it up and sweep her off her feet.

No → SINGLE WHITE ROSE: You've done enough — save your cash for champagne and truffles.

ORCHID STEMS: Pricey and chic, just like her.

Intimate → Would she rather watch?

Gone with the Wind → DOZEN RED ROSES

500 Days of Summer → TULIPS: Roses are so passé.

LAUREN STRAPAGIEL, ANDREW BARR / NATIONAL POST